

This invention pertains to thin arched prescription lens (58), mainly suited for ophthalmic applications, which are designed to be manufactured as a thin flat sheet, and after or while being manufactured, the thin sheet is folded to the predefined arched shape.

5